

Center for International Development at Harvard University
79 John F. Kennedy Street, Cambridge, MA 02138 USA

Center for International Development
Undergraduate Associate Program
Application Spring 2007

Name:
Anticipated Year of Graduation:
House Affiliation and Local Address:
Permanent Address:
Email:
Concentration:
Concentration Advisor:
Do you intend to write a thesis?
Do you intend to study abroad? If so, where and when?

Please attach a resume and a copy of your most recent transcript (unofficial is fine).

Please include a brief statement that describes your current interests in international development and any career path in development you envision for yourself.

Have you participated in CID's undergraduate discussion series prior to this semester (Note: you must have participated in the majority of discussion sessions for at least one semester by the due date of this application)? Have you invited speakers to past CID undergrad discussion meetings? If so, who?

Have you or are you currently working with a CID Faculty Associate or researcher? (please see <http://www.cid.harvard.edu/cidpeople/> for a list of affiliates)

What topic would you like to see addressed at a CID undergrad discussion? Whom would you invite to speak about the topic? Would you be willing to be the student contact for that discussion?

How can CID support you and your interests in development over the next year?

Please email the information above to melissa_wojciechowski@harvard.edu by Tuesday, April 17th, 2007 or mail to:

Melissa Wojciechowski
Office 408, Rubenstein Building
Center for International Development
79 JFK Street
Cambridge, MA 02138

Thank you for your application.